Father and Son From Argentina Visit Here in 1914 Ford

VISITORS: Timmo was in one of his worst predicaments as a reporter yesterday. I couldn't understand them and they couldn't understand me.

I'm speaking of the father and son from Argentina who are motoring from their native land in South America, through the United States. They couldn't speak English and I couldn't understand Spanish.

About 3 p. m. yesterday City Policeman Pat Atkinson called me and said he and Patrolman John Dunn were on the lookout for the Argentinians and their 1914 Model Ford, which left Vienna at 1:05 p. m. and was coming to Harrisburg through Marion.

Since the old car travelled about 20 miles per hour, they said, they expected it some time after three o'clock. They had a message for them to call Evansville.

The two, Jose Fernandez, 73, and his son, Ramon, 29, left Cairo at noon yesterday after having some motor trouble there and started through our Egypt. They've been more than two years on the road and their hope, as they travelled through this country, was to reach the grave of Henry Ford at Detroit before the motor firm completed its year's commemoration of its 50th anniversary.

Well, Timmo waited out on Route 13 in West Harrisburg with the city policemen and Sheriff Paul Spangler, to get a glimpse and a story from the two. They didn't come and the more I thought about the Rose Bowl telecast the more I figured it was awful useless to sit out there on the road in a car, although it was a very pleasant afternoon.

So I went home and just as I got in the door the phone rang, the voice telling me the fellows pulled into town not more than two minutes after I departed. I guess it's a good thing I left, though, because if I'd stuck around for hours, they wouldn't have shown up until after I left and I did the officers a favor by leaving around 3:45.

The officers escorted the two to the city hall and secured John Schork, who can speak some Spanish, for an interpreter.

I had lots of questions to ask them but couldn't because I didn't know how to ask them and Schork was pretty busy with them and their telephone call to Evansville, where the Tri-State Old Auto club wanted to welcome them. Some books they had, though, revealed they had left Argentina in 1951, and I finally got it through Interpreter Schork that they had travelled 31,000 miles.

Quite a crowd gathered outside the city hall and quite a bit of time was spent inside the building as the two made plans to go to Evansville. With Schork's aid it was decided that the car should go east on Route 13 to Route 1, then on Route 1 to New Haven, where they could cross the ferry. But, they were told, they couldn't cross the ferry after dark and would have to stay here all night.

They it was arranged for them to visit WSL-TV for a personal appearance on the 6:45 p. m. news cast.

Then the elder Fernandez had the two patrolmen, the sheriff and the assistant fire chief write in their book and city and county letterheads were attached.

Next the elder Fernandez gave to Schork a telegram he had received from Chicago, for Schork to interpret. It invited them to come here as guests of an auto club.

"They are wanting us to come everywhere," Schork said that Fernandez said.

We got 'em outside for pictures and it looked like the story was as complete as it could be with Timotheus not being able to speak Spanish and the Argentinians not being able to speak English.

They were surrounded by people around their antiquated car as I prepared to leave.

Then Schork came out of the building and I asked him where the two were going to spend the night.

"Oh, they just decided they wouldn't stay here," he explained. They said they were so late now they wouldn't go to Evansville but would head straight north for Detroit. They're not going to Evansville after all."

THEY SEE HARRISBURG ON TRIP FROM SOUTH AMERICA TO DETROIT.—Pictured are Jose Fernandez (right) and his son, Ramon, who are motoring from Argentina, in South America, to Detroit, in a 1914 Ford. They are shown in front of the Harrisburg city building around 5 p. m. yesterday after they were stopped here because of a long-distance telephone call awaiting them. The two, who have been travelling for more than two years on this trip, covering more than 31,000 miles, were very affable but couldn't speak a word of English. (Daily Register Staff Photo)

100,000 Volunteer Workers

Direct emergency aid to Illinois chapters of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis totaled $171,925 in 1953, it was reported today by William E. Fay, state March of Dimes chairman. The aid was given to 26 chapters for treatment of Illinois polio patients.

The Saline county workers will be among an army of upwards of 100,000 volunteer workers in the Illinois campaign. The 1954 March of Dimes will continue through Jan. 31 and some 80,000 workers, mostly women, will take part in the mothers' march porchlight campaign in the last week of the drive.

The slogan, "50 per cent more in '54", stresses the urgent need for funds to finance a polio prevention program expected to cost the National Foundation $26,500,000. The program includes $7,500,000 for nationwide field trials of a new polio vaccine and $19,000,000 for increased supplies of gamma globulin, the precious whole blood derivative credited with giving temporary protection from the crippling effects of poliomyelitis.

The additional funds for polio prevention will swell the National Foundation's 1954 needs to $75,000,000, about 50 per cent more than was needed in 1953.

Coach is Slain While 'Spooning' With Girl Friend

O'FALLON, Ill. (AP) — A young high school coach was shot and killed today as he sat "spooning" with his girl friend in a parked car and police speculated that he was the victim of a robber with a nervous trigger finger.

The victim was Edgar Schaefer, 26-year-old teacher and coach at the Mascoutah, Ill., high school. He lives at Lebanon, Ill.

His girl friend, pretty 19-year-old Gay Odum, who said she and Schaefer had been "going steady" for four months, sobbed hysterically when highway patrolmen told her Schaefer was dead.

"Why did it happen?" she cried. She told investigators she was seated with Schaefer in the front seat of his car in a roadside park off U. S. 50 when a man appeared at the window on the driver's side and shined a flashlight on the couple.

Schaefer opened the car door and started to get out, she said, when the man fired a shot and the teacher slumped to the ground. The bullet pierced his heart.

"Not a word was spoken," Miss Odum told officers. "The man didn't ask for Edgar's money or anything."

She said the assailant ran up a 40-foot railroad embankment and disappeared after the shooting. Miss Odum ran to a nearby farmhouse and called police.

She told patrolmen Glenn Barthelme and Clarence Reeb that she knew of no jealousy on the part of former suitors which might have accounted for the slaying.

"It looks like he was trying to be a hero and got it from a trigger happy stickup man," Barthelme said. "If he'd locked the doors and driven away, it probably wouldn't have happened."

Birth of Baby to John Dewars Gains Publicity

When Mrs. John Dewar, the former Martha Malan of Harrisburg, gave birth to a son last Monday, it was, of course, a special event to the family, including the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Malan of Harrisburg.

However, the event gained considerable publicity, including a picture in Friday's St. Louis Globe-Democrat, when the doctor who attended Mrs. Dewar—Dr. Ethlyn Jennings of Parkville, Mo., five hours later gave birth to a son of her own. The mothers shared a room in a Kansas City hospital.

207 Accidental Deaths Reported Over Holiday

By United Press

Traffic accidents claimed an average of four lives an hour today and safety experts predicted 1,237 persons will die on the highways before the winter holiday period ends Sunday.

A United Press survey showed traffic accidents had killed 155 persons since the New Year's holiday began at 6 p. m. Thursday. Fires killed 25, airplane crashes 4 and miscellaneous accidents 23 for a total of 207.

The National Safety Council has predicted new year's traffic accidents would kill 340 persons. It estimated that 345 persons died between the time the Christmas holiday ended last Sunday and the beginning of the new year period.

Those two figures, added to the 532 persons killed in traffic crashes during the three-day Christmas holiday, led the Safety Council to predict an overall 1,237 holiday accident toll.

Despite the steadily mounting new year's death rate, it lagged far behind the murderous pace set during Christmas. At one point during the earlier holiday, highway crashes were killing eight persons an hour.

Safety Council President Ned H. Dearborn said, "Apparently the shock of the heavy Christmas holiday traffic toll, plus the incessant emphasis on safety by press, television and radio, has sobered the new year drivers into better traffic behavior."

16 PERSONS DEAD IN ILLINOIS ACCIDENTS

CHICAGO (AP) — Sixteen persons have died in 13 of them in highway auto crashes in Illinois since the New Year's holiday began Thursday night, a United Press survey showed today.

No Bad Holiday Accidents Here

Sheriff Paul Spangler and Chief of Police Loren Travelstead today commented on how quiet and free from tragedy and bad accidents was the period here between Christmas and New Year's Day.

City, county and state police said that the area was unusually quiet and free from trouble over New Year's.

Two crashes were reported. In one, between Wayne Hall, 54, of Galatia Route 3 and W. H. Noonan, 50, of Harrisburg, Florence Noonan, 49, and Linda Noonan, 12, received treatment for injuries. This crash occurred at 3:45 p. m. Thursday at Land and Lilly streets in Harrisburg.

The other occurred early last night on Route 142 about four miles north of Eldorado. There were no injuries but it was reported that a new pickup truck driven by Harold L. Owens of Broughton and a new auto driven by "Doc" Steiger of Eldorado were badly damaged.

GI Released by Russians to Wed Austrian Girl He Met in Prison Camp

BERLIN (AP) — U. S. Army officers said today that Pvt. Homer Cox would be free in about 10 days to claim the hand of the red-haired Austrian girl who agreed to marry him when they both were prisoners in Russia.

The 33-year-old GI from Oklahoma City, who was released by Russians Tuesday after more than four years of imprisonment, is being held here while the Army investigates his story that he was drugged and shanghaied from West Berlin by Communist agents.

Army officers said there appears to be no reason to doubt Cox's story. They said the investigation is "merely routine," and predicted that he will be released in 10 days or so.

Inge Brenner, Cox's 26-year-old fiancée, was released a few months before he was and has since been recuperating from the effects of

Reveal Reds Promised POWs Cadillacs, Cash and Jobs In Communized America

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Communists tried to bribe American war prisoners resisting repatriation in Korea with such lures as Cadillacs, $5,000 in cash, and promises of high positions if the Reds took over the United States, officials said today.

They said reports reaching here from the Far East indicate the Reds also promised the American prisoners free college educations sometime in the future.

The reports were at least partially backed up by Pfc. Claude J. Batchelor, one of the 22 balking American prisoners who changed his mind and left the Reds one hour after the new year started. He told newsmen at Panmunjom the Communists promised him "travel, education, almost anything."

"I could go to Europe, South America, Asia, all over the world, have any education or career I wanted in the fight for peace," the 24-year old Texan said.

No Baby Derby Winner Yet

Harrisburg had no Baby Derby winner announced at mid-morning.

To win the derby, the baby must be the first born this year to parents who reside in Harrisburg township.

A baby girl was born at Lightner hospital yesterday and one was born at the Harrisburg hospital today, but neither is eligible for the contest. At Lightner hospital a baby girl was born yesterday to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Horton of Independence township. Named Rita June, she weighs seven pounds, 10 ounces. Born today at Harrisburg hospital was little Lou Ann Casey, to Mr. and Mrs. Norman Lee Casey of Galatia. She weighs seven pounds, eight ounces.

Dr. John E. Choiser of Eldorado reported he delivered a baby girl to Mr. and Mrs. George Edwards of Eldorado, at Pearce hospital there at 12:30 a. m. Jan. 1, just a half hour after the new year arrived.

The winner of the Harrisburg township Baby Derby will receive gifts from more than 20 local merchants.

Says More Will Return if Not Prosecuted

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — Pfc. Claude Batchelor, second American to turn his back on his Communist captors, urged the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission today to investigate conditions in the Red prisoner compound.

Batchelor, 24, of Kermit, Tex., said he believed more of the 21 Americans still sticking with the Communists would go home if they were assured they would not be harmed by their fellow captives or prosecuted in American military or civil courts.

The blond Texan with a tooth-brush mustache appeared calm but confused as he gave newsmen a crazy-quilt account of what had been going on inside the compound holding the Americans who "they" want to stay with the Reds.

Batchelor boasted he had been the leader of the Red "peace fighters," even though he said he had never been a Communist. He said that although he attended Red lectures in prison camps, he had never informed on others.

Surrenders to Indian Guard

Only an hour after he had celebrated the New Year at a compound party, Batchelor took the same path to freedom as Pfc. Edward Dickenson, the only other American to reject the Communists. He went to the dispensary and surrendered to an Indian guard.

Although Batchelor talked of knife-wielding buddies, he said the Indian guards were available for any of the remaining 21 who might want to come back to democracy.

At Panmunjom, Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya, chief of the repatriation commission, refused to say whether his "Indian" troops would "screen" the other Americans refusing repatriation.

Thimayya already has screened more than 4,000 anti-Chinese prisoners since the official end of explanations last Dec. 23.

Tearful Letter from Wife

Thimayya said Indian troops actually were not screening the anti-Communists but were only "checking up" on their records.

However, 135 Chinese asked for repatriation during the checkup. The U. N. Command at Munsan said it had no objection to screening of anti-Communist prisoners.

The Texan said his Japanese wife's tearful "come home" letter made him change his mind about staying with the Communists.

Batchelor said he had refused to go home in last summer's "Operation Big Switch," the big prisoner exchange at Panmunjom, because he wanted to become a "peace fighter" against "American aggression."

He also said the Communists had promised the Americans wealth.

Prevent Winter Damage to Farm Machinery

A few precautions when putting the tractor or other motordriven
farm machine away for the winter will save many hours of engine life
by preventing rust and corrosion occurring during the storage season, says Fred W. Roth, agricultural economist at Southern Illinois university.

Such damage occurs chiefly to valves, upper cylinders, and bearings, particularly in engines on combines and balers which do not run many hours per year.

Practically all internal rusting
and corrosion of bearing surfaces
may be avoided by the following easy steps, he says:

1. Drain out the old crankcase oil and put in new oil of the proper weight, change the oil filter, and run the engine five minutes to circulate the new oil to all parts of the engine.
2. Remove spark plugs and pour three tablespoons of oil in each cylinder, replace the plugs, and crank the engine two revolutions to distribute oil over the upper cylinder walls and the valves.
3. Plug the air intake pipe and the exhaust pipe to keep moisture out of the engine.
4. If an anti-freeze is used to protect the engine cooling system against freezing, use a permanent or alcohol-base type. Other materials either are unsafe or harmful to the cooling system.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY Fear not, for they that be with ness. Wrong often triumphs too long, but even Plato said twenty-

can come to a good man in this

SIU Country Column

By Albert Meyer
Your rural scribe would like to come into the homes of farm folks of southern Illinois for a few moments once a week to pass on a bit of information and chatter that may be helpful. At least the fellows in the Southern Illinois university Agriculture department hope so. There are a dozen of them, you know: W. E. "Kep" Keeper (the chairman), Bill Andrew, Marshall Clark, Scott Hin-
drew, John Hosner, Jim Mowry, Alex Reed, Fred Roth, Ed Sullivan, Lowell Tucker, Joe Vavra, and Harvey Woods.

Now for this week's reminders:
Don't expect any miracles from concoctions recommended to prevent those winter egg production slumps in your laying flocks. A winter pause in egg laying is an inherited factor of the hen.

Cows freshening in the fall usually produce more milk than spring fresheners, so try to get some of your cows bred in January for October freshening. It'll keep your milk production on a more even keel throughout the year, too.

Take good care of that barnyard manure. In the long run it probably is your most valuable livestock product.

Order now the fertilizer you will need for the year's crops. You'll find it more available now than during the planting season next spring when every Tom, Dick,
and Harry is buying his supply.

Don't wait until planting time to plan your garden, either. January is the planning time. Remember that each dollar invested in a well-planned vegetable garden will return nearly $20 worth of food for your family.

There is nothing quite as disastrous as having a farm building burn, particularly the home. Farm fires always increase during the winter months because of the increased need for heat. Have your inspected your heating plant, smoke pipe, and chimney to make sure they are safe?

It's a good time to get at that pruning, too. Proper pruning of orchard trees will reduce the amount of cull fruit produced. You may shape the adult tree, too, by properly pruning the young orchard.

If you have a farm woodland
you may use some of your less busy winter days profitably in your woodlot. Efficient home use is often the most profitable way to utilize your woodland's products. By cutting your own timber you may more than double the cash income from your woodland, too.

That is all for this time.

Jan. 15 Deadline For ACP Reports

Friday, Jan. 15, is the final date
for farmers to file reports on soil conservation practices carried out under the 1953 Agricultural Conservation program. This reminder was issued today by Raymond Alvey, chairman of the local ASC office.

It should be recognized, said Mr.
Alvey, that payments cannot be made for work accomplished unless this report is filed on time. It's a definite program requirement with which all cooperators must comply.

Most farmers, according to Committeeman Alvey, have already filed the necessary reports. He emphasized, however, that those who have neglected this matter should immediately contact the county office at city hall, Harrisburg. Weight tickets and other evidence should be brought in.

Out Our Way

Notes From Farm Adviser

By L. B. Kimmel

Diseases and problems with livestock may be the result of poor feeding and management. Increase in livestock numbers brings added
problems of health and sanitation.
Shortage of high quality feed lowers resistance of livestock. A combination of poor sanitation and lower vitality of the animals increases work of local veterinary. Medicine and treatment of sick animals does not eliminate the source of the trouble.

The solution of the problem is to remove the cause. Feed the best available feed. Legume hay or protein along with lower quality hay for cattle will help. Some yellow corn to supply vitamin A and added energy will increase resistance of the cows before calving. Clean loafing or sleeping quarters will remove some of the disease sources.

Those who try to bring animals through late winter months on starvation rations will run into trouble. Drugs and treatment are no substitute for proper management. It must be remembered that many farmers started feeding when pasture burned up last fall. Winter feeding will be much longer this year. Those with silage and legume hay can bring cows through the winter and expect them to produce normal calves in the spring.

Cows fed short rations and losing weight may not produce normal healthy living calves. There goes the profit on the cow for this year at least. From now to spring keep a close watch on your cows if you expect a calf crop.

Ground corn cobs may be fed if some grain and soybean meal is fed to increase feeding quality.

Harry G. Russell, livestock specialist at the University of Illinois, says good results are obtained by feeding five pounds good quality hay per day plus all the ground cobs the cow will eat plus a pound of corn and a pound of protein supplement per day. Alfalfa hay furnishes vitamins and minerals. Cobs should be ground through a 12-inch screen. As soon as you know the amount of cobs the cows will eat you may add the corn and protein such as soybean meal and grind together. This will save feeding separately. Molasses will increase the palatability of the feed.

Select Livestock For Quality and High Production

Quality and high production records are more important considerations in selecting livestock for the farm than is choosing the breed of animal, says Harvey S. Woods, farm manager at Southern Illinois University.

The ultimate end of all livestock production is the production of human food by efficient utilization of crops. Any animals which do not produce human food efficiently and profitably have no place on the farm, he declares.

For the most part some type of livestock program is the most profitable way in which the Southern Illinois farmer can utilize his land, labor, and capital. Once convinced that such an enterprise fulfills this requirement for him, the farmer is ready to select the animals for his livestock herd.

Woods suggests:

1. Do not act hastily in starting out by investing limited capital in animals that are known to fall short of meeting the goal of profitable production.
2. Consider carefully the kind of livestock program to be undertaken in the light of markets, labor,
land, and facilities.
3. Choose the animals most popular in the community because prominence is a good indication these are suited to the conditions in the locality.
4. Select for quality and high production rather than breed.

Student is Corn Yield Champ with 249.39 Bu. Acre

Robert Anderson, a 16 year old vocational agriculture student at the Manlius high school in Bureau county, Illinois, is the State Corn Yield champion for vocational agriculture students for 1953. Robert obtained a yield of 249.39 bushels per acre of 15 per cent moisture corn with Pioneer 325, a hybrid that is well adapted for this area.
This is the highest yield ever obtained in the eight years this contest has been offered in Illinois.
This very high yield was made under the supervision of Fred Russell, Jr., the vocational agriculture instructor at the Manlius high school. In addition to winning the $25.00 cash award for the highest yield in F. F. A. Section No. 3, Robert also received a 21-jewel wrist watch as State Corn Yield Champion for vocational agriculture students for 1953.

There were 3349 high school students entered in the "Pioneer Hi-Yield Corn Growing Contest" from 284 high schools throughout the state in the 1953 contest.

Robert is the son of Mr. and Mrs.
Paul L. Anderson, who lives on a 167 acre farm northeast of Manlius.

All vocational agriculture students in Illinois high schools are eligible for this contest and free seed corn is furnished by the Popular Hi-Yield Corn Company of Illinois for the boys' corn projects.

Chicago Baby Is First Born in U.S. This Year

CHICAGO — George Hayden Jr. of Chicago is only a little more than 24 hours old, but he already is a world beater. He apparently was the first baby born in the United States in 1954.

George entered the world on the first stroke of midnight on New Year's Day, beating out three competitors by only "half-a-second." George, who weighed in at 8 pounds, 5 ounces, also was a "first" for his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Hayden Sr.

Three other infants made a close race of it with an assist from the United States Army. They were born at one second after midnight. The Army maneuvered one little girl into her near-record position.

A medical major at Brooke Army Hospital in San Antonio confessed that obstetricians deliberately delayed the birth of a girl to Mrs. Jack Morgan, 28, so that she would be a New Year's baby. That maneuver brought the infant into the world in a tie with Edward Gomez Jr., at San Francisco Hospital in Los Angeles, and with a 6 pound, 5-ounce girl born to Mrs. James N. Lewis at Washington.

Two other babies were tied for third place, being born within two seconds of the birth of the New Year. They were Irene Ann Dunn, born at Los Angeles South Hoover Hospital, and a son born to Mrs. Manuel Martin of Windsor Locks, Conn., in St. Francis Hospital at Hartford, Conn.

One second later, a son was born to Mrs. Alvin Branthover of Belle Vernon, Pa., at Pittsburgh's Magee Hospital.

Decatur Youth Saves Two Girls

DECATUR, Ill. — A high school football player was credited today with saving two 12-year-old girls from drowning.

Sue Willis, daughter of Mayor Robert E. Willis, and Martha Hewett were walking across ice-coated Lake Decatur Friday when the ice gave way and they plunged into water.

Richard Powell, 18, an end on the Decatur grid team, was passing by and heard cries for help. Powell ran to the lake shore and found a board about four feet long. Powell edged his way out on the ice to a spot near the girls. Lying flat on the ice, he extended the board to the girls and they climbed onto thicker ice and safety.

Heart Attack on Ship Fatal to Lord Norwich

LONDON — Britain today mourned the loss of one of its foremost public figures—the 63-year-old Viscount of Norwich, born Alfred Duff Cooper, who achieved world notice in 1938 by quitting the Cabinet in protest against appeasement of Nazi Germany.

Norwich died of a heart attack Friday aboard the French liner Colombie off the Spanish coast. With him at the time was the viscountess, who as Lady Diana Manners was a noted actress and society beauty when they were married in 1919.

Lady Norwich, in "great distress" at her husband's sudden death, left the ship with his remains at the Spanish port of Vigo. The body will be flown back to England for burial.

Their only son, 24-year-old Foreign Office clerk John J. Cooper, inherits the title.

Lord and Lady Norwich sailed Wednesday for Jamaica, where they had planned to vacation on a friend's estate. Cooper said Friday night that he missed seeing them off because he went to the wrong railroad station.

Norwich was war secretary from 1934 until 1937, when he was appointed first lord of the Admiralty—the post he resigned a year later as a protest against Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's appeasement of Germany at Munich. He returned to the Cabinet as information minister when Winston Churchill became prime minister in 1940, and held that and other key posts through the war years. He was ambassador to France from 1944 to 1947.

Galatia Home Bureau Holds Dinner Party for Husbands

The annual husbands' dinner party of the Galatia Home Bureau unit was held Monday evening at the John C. Small home with 100 per cent attendance. At 7 o'clock a delicious potluck meal was begun by the hostess praying the blessing upon it and those present.

The contests following were presumably won by the men since they received more prizes. Attractively wrapped gifts from sunshine friends were received by the members and the men were not forgotten either as each also received a package.

The unit was reminded of its plan to make cancer bandages at the next meeting.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. Menard Hawkins, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Bond, Mr. and Mrs. Max Cochrum, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Riegel, Mr. and Mrs. John Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hatcher, Mr. and Mrs. Jewel Cook, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Triplett, Mr. and Mrs. James Richey and the host and hostess.

'53 Traffic Deaths Lowest in History For Miles Driven

CHICAGO — The National Safety Council said today the traffic death rate for 1953, on the basis of miles driven, was the lowest in history.

While the council estimated that the 1953 traffic death toll would be 38,000—the same as in 1952—it reported that mileage was up an estimated 5 per cent. This resulted in a mileage death rate, or deaths per hundred million miles, of 6.9.

In Washington, the American Association said the toll of 38,000 was the equivalent of 6.7 deaths for each hundred million miles.

The traffic record ended a three-year upward trend of traffic deaths, the Council said. It was the first year since 1949 that traffic deaths had not gone up. But preliminary reports indicated that traffic accident injuries were about 4 per cent greater, it said.

Ice Age Ice

We are apt to think of mighty ice masses of the north as frozen from large quantities of open water. Yet all the great sheets that held whole continents during the Ice Age were formed by the packing, partial melting, and re-freezing of countless billions of tiny snowflakes.

Fire Routs 80;

Blame Arsonist

CHICAGO (UP)—Fire routed 80

occupants of a four-story apartment building early today.

Police "definitely" blamed an arsonist for the blaze.

An expectant mother, Mrs. Frances Shore, 26, suffered a spinal injury when she leaped into a net from her third-floor apartment.

Thomas J. Spight, 47, dropped his two children, aged 2 and 3, into a net after flames trapped them on their fourth-floor apartment.

Spight's wife, Colette, 24, followed her children into the net and Spight escaped by ladder. All four were treated for smoke inhalation.

Police said the blaze in the 57-apartment building was touched off in garbage containers on the first, second and third floors.

The blaze broke through the roof and destroyed most of the fourth floor.

education, travel and leadership in the "fight for peace."

"It was understood I would never have to worry about money," Batchelor said.

Feared Other Prisoners.

Batchelor said he wanted to return during the 90-day explanations period that ended Dec. 23 but feared other prisoners would kill him. He asked for an investigation of the compound by the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission.

At another point, however, Batchelor said any of the Americans could have been repatriated simply by telling an Indian guard that was his wish.

Batchelor's story of Communist indoctrination contained several contradictions, but he admitted he was "very confused" and that some of the other Americans were "mixed up."

One American began crying, "I want to go home," at the New Year's Eve party, Batchelor said, but other men quieted him with liquor.

Batchelor told only a part of his story to newsmen and then intelligence officers began questioning him intensively to find out how many more wanted to come home, their names and other information.

Claim of Leadership

Batchelor, who had exchanged his Communist blue-quilted uniform for an American winter green outfit, refused to name any of the men who might be wavering, but it was obvious he had been instructed by U. S. authorities not to identify the men lest he endanger their lives.

He identified himself alternately as "No. 1 leader" and "No. 2 leader" of the prisoners. When he was confronted with statements of South Korean repatriates that Sgt. Richard Corden of Providence, R. I., was the top man Batchelor said the sergeant was "one of the leaders."

Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya, Indian chairman of the repatriation commission, dealt with Corden through all the explanation period as the acknowledged American spokesman and dismissed Batchelor's claim-to-leadership.

Two Arrested In $57,000 Bank Robbery

HOUSTON, Tex. (UP)—The FBI

announced today that two persons charged as accomplices in a $57,000 Houston bank robbery were arrested in New Orleans, La.

Joseph F. Santolana Jr., special agent in charge of the FBI's Houston office, identified those arrested Friday night as James David Mitchell, 23, alias James David Richardson, and Mary Lou Richardson, 18, alias Brenda Joyce Smith, and Mrs. James Mitchell.

Both Mitchell and Miss Richardson were named by Donny Allen, a 19-year-old teller at the Houston National Bank, as being among his four accomplices in the robbery Thursday.

The FBI said they were arrested at the home of Miss Richardson's parents and held at the Orleans Parish prison in New Orleans.

Allen confessed after 10 hours of questioning that he and four others planned the robbery. One of the men he named, Johnny Navarro, surrendered at Houston and was held in lieu of $50,000 bond.

Money Is Not Found

Allen told of his part in the fake holdup when officers caught him in a discrepancy in history. He first said he showed a briefcase containing $57,349 through his cage window. Later he admitted he handed it through a door, after officers pointed out the case was too big to go through the teller's window.

The teller, who was taking a correspondence course on banking, said he actually gave the briefcase to Nick Mitchell, 45, uncle of James and the last man at large, in a restroom near the bank's vault section. He said he waited five or 10 minutes after Mitchell left to turn in an alarm.

The FBI said neither the money nor a two-tone blue 1953 automobile, purchased about an hour after the holdup, had been found.

Cigaret Firms

Unable to Combat

Claims in Unison

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Justice

Department has informed cigarette manufacturers they cannot legally act in concert to combat medical claims that cigarette smoking may cause lung cancer, it was learned today.

Justice Department sources said that Asst. Atty. Gen. Stanley N. Barnes, the head of the department's anti-trust division, conferred informally about this matter several days ago with the president of a leading cigarette manufacturing firm.

A department official said the tobacco manufacturer was informed by Barnes that tobacco firms "cannot get together on anything" without risking a violation of the anti-trust laws.

This source said Barnes told the tobacco manufacturer that cigarette firms could make contributions to research organizations in an effort to produce evidence to combat medical claims.

But Barnes was reported to have insisted that the contributions, even if made by the cigarette firms on an individual basis and not as a group.

17 Trampled to

Death as Japanese

Greet Emperor

TOKYO (UP)—"Human waves"

of Japanese trampled 17 persons to death and injured 50 others today when they stormed into the imperial palace grounds to wish the emperor and empress a happy new year.

Hundreds of thousands of Japanese went into the grounds to sign their names in the imperial register. Tens of thousands were waiting outside when officials tried to close the main entrance.

The Japanese, some of whom had come to Tokyo from different parts of Japan, rushed forward to enter the grounds, breaking through police cordons.

Women, children and the aged were trampled as the mob pushed through the gate.

After order was restored, police and palace officials found 17 dead. The injured were rushed to hospitals, where some were said to be in critical condition.

Some 382,000 persons crowded into the palace grounds during the six-hour open house period.

Football Stars In Bowl Games

By United Press
The New Year's Day football bowl stars:

Rose Bowl: Billy Wells of Michigan State, who sparked one 73-yard touchdown drive and scored on a 42-yard punt return as the Spartans came from behind to defeat University of California at Los Angeles, 28-20.

Cotton Bowl: Dicky Moegle of Rice who scored three touchdowns and ran up 265 yards from scrimmage in a 28-6 triumph over Alabama. He had scoring runs of 79 and 34 yards and was allowed a 95-yard touchdown run because Alabama fullback Tommy Lewis couldn't resist the temptation to run off the bench and tackle him.

Sugar Bowl: Pepper Rodgers of Georgia Tech who passed for three touchdowns, kicked two extra points and a nine yard field goal in the 42-19 victory over West Virginia.

Orange Bowl: Larry Grigg of Oklahoma who took a pitchout from Gene Calame and ran 25 yards for the game's only touchdown in a 7-0 victory over national champion Maryland.

Gator Bowl: Cowboy Bob Cavazos of Texas Tech, who scored three touchdowns, one on a 59-yard run, one on a pitchout, and one on a plunge with half the Auburn team on his back in a 35-13 victory.

Sun Bowl: Dick Shinaut of Texas Western who threw two touchdowns passes, kicked a 20-yard field goal and kicked four points after touchdown in a 30-7 upset over Mississippi Southern.

Salad Bowl: Ollie Matson of Fort Ord, Calif., the former San Francisco University star, who picked up three touchdowns and broke the game wide open in a 67-12 rout of Great Lakes Navy.

SURE SHOT — Bill Sharman, the most accurate shot in basketball, will return to base ball. (NEA)

College basketball is doomed at Madison Square Garden because there isn't a top-flight varsity quintet in New York. And not the prospect of one in the foreseeable future because schools from throughout the country, and especially in North Carolina, are reaching into the Big Town for the premier prep talent.

Our choice for the finest exponent of the jump shot is Minnesota's Chuck Menele. There's a theory that the jump shot is supposed to be the salvation of the little man in basketball, actually runs them for pro ball because they can't get it off against the big men and never have learned to pop long shots from the outside. . . . Whitey Skoog of the Minneapolis Lakers is an illustration.

The greatest shooter playing basketball is Bill Sharman of the Boston Celtics. . . . Sharman was good enough to bat .299 in Triple A baseball and, despite announced retirement from the diamond, intends to make one more whirl for majors.

The top center in the south, Dick Hemric of Wake Forest, was tabbed by assistant coach Lancaster of Kentucky "the best visiting player ever to appear in the Coliseum here." . . . Duke's flashy Negro quartet of Dick Ricketts, Jim Tucker, Si Green and Fletcher Johnson has Pittsburghers calling the Dukes the Harlem Globetrotters of college basketball.

Full of pathos is the story of Ralph Beard, a nice kid who got himself enmeshed in the fix scandals and expelled from the National Basketball Association. He's still working out faithfully after two years in the hope of getting reinstated.

Bob Bronzan of San Jose State tells of visiting a coaching friend confined to a mental institution. There they watched another former coach playing a game of football with himself. He'd go into a solo huddle, hustle to the line of scrimmage, center the imaginary ball back to himself, fade to pass and finally catch the ball as he was tackled by a ghost player.

The friend told Bronzan he went away daily and watched the proceedings. "That guy will beat me unless I scout him every day," he said.

Mrs. Frank Sedgman, wife of the tennis pro, is expecting a little Aussie and will not accompany her husband on the Jack Kramer tour. . . . The best all-around end in football has to be Jim Doran of Detroit, who caught the pass that won the second straight championship for the Lions. . . . Last year, playing only defense, he was voted the most valuable player on the team by his mates. . . . This season he supplanted Leon Hart on offense.

Jack Kramer reveals his buddy, Otto Graham, was suffering from a case of badly chapped hands when his passing failed so miserably in the championship game against the Detroit Lions. . . . Why can't Hal Newhouser, a

Illinois Tangles With Minnesota in Loop Tilt Tonight

By United Press
Indiana launches its Big Ten title defense tonight as the two chief contenders clash in opening games of the conference basketball race. The Hoosiers, the nation's second ranked team, invade Ann Arbor to meet Michigan.

Illinois and Minnesota tangle at Champaign in the night's most decisive battle.

In the only other game scheduled, Wisconsin, rated as a possible "darkhorse," plays host to Purdue.

The Indiana-Michigan battle pits two eagle-eye shot artists—Indiana's Don Schlundt, who has hit 58.8 per cent of his shots, and Michigan's Harvey Williams, who has sunk 64.3 per cent of his. Schlundt, at 6-10, carries a 2-inch height advantage.

The Illini Gopher contest also brings together two high-scoring stars. Illinois' Johnny Kerr, a 6-9 center who ranked fourth in Big Ten scoring last season, will match Chuck Menele, Minnesota's 5-11 1-2 guard, the Big Ten's third-ranking scorer last season. The two will be the smallest and tallest starters in the game.

Purdue will be out to even its long series with the Badgers at 34 games each in their game at Michigan.

In another top midwestern game Loyola plays host to Bowling Green in an afternoon game to be nationally televised over ABC.

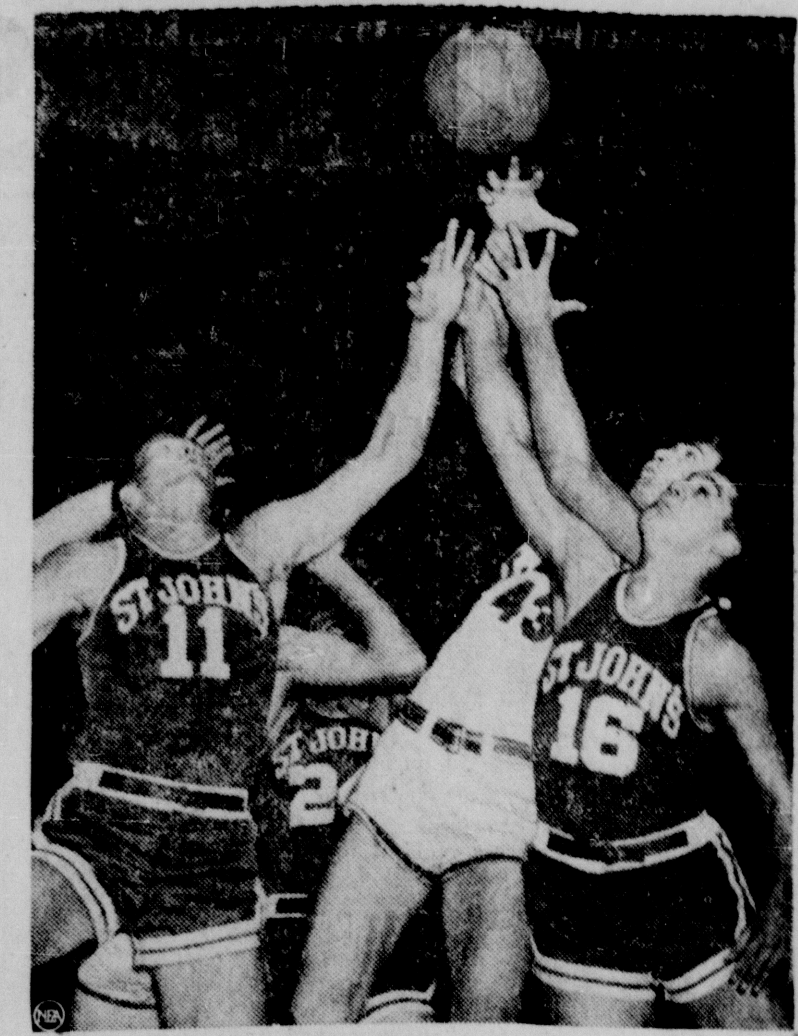

Perez Wins Bloody Decision Over Gallardo

NEW YORK (AP)—Young Lulu Perez, heartened by a new year's victory over Dave Gallardo, said today he would beat ex-champion Willie Pep in their featherweight challengers' bout at Madison Square Garden, Feb. 26.

"I may have trouble with Pep in the early rounds, but after that I'll be too strong for him," explained the dark-haired, 20-year-old Brooklyn contender.

Lulu appeared strong Friday night as he won a unanimous 10-round decision over bloody Gallardo of Los Angeles in their TV-radio "rubber match" at the Garden.

Search for plants containing precursors of cortisone, carried on by explorers all over the accessible world, is narrowing to three types—the agave, the yam, and the yucca, all found in the southwestern deserts.

SHOW OF HANDS—In this wrangle at Madison Square Garden are Ed Cunningham, 11; Jim Walsh, 24; and Lew Scaltzi, 16 of Brooklyn St. John's and St. Louis' Jerry Koch, 43. The visitors smothered the Brooklyn forces, 77-47. (NEA)

Alabama Fullback Steals Show in Bowl Game with Tackle from Bench; Michigan State, Oklahoma, Rice Win

By United Press
An apologetic fullback who made a foolish and illegal tackle in a losing cause stole the show from the more legitimate heroes of the New Year's Day football bowl games.

The culprit was Tommy Lewis of Alabama, and he cried in the dressing room after his team's 28-6 defeat by Rice in the Cotton Bowl.

A gathering of 75,000 saw Lewis suddenly dart off the bench Friday in Dallas and tackle Dicky Moegle of Rice, who was on his way to a touchdown. The touchdown, which would have been a 95-yard deal, was allowed. . . . Moegle scored two other touchdowns on runs of 79 yards and 34 yards in the easy triumph.

Lewis, like a mountain climber who scales a peak simply "because it is there," said he had an irresistible urge to tackle Moegle even though he wasn't in the game.

"I saw him coming a long way off," he said. "The nearer he got to me the nearer I moved to the field. I don't know what happened. I just felt I had to get him. Now it seems like a dream." . . . Lewis worried particularly because he thought that he would be cited as the first man in the history of bowl games to make a tackle from the bench—"no matter what happens from now on."

There was a key man in each of the other games, witnessed by nearly 400,000 persons in sunny and pleasant weather from California to Florida.

Michigan State stomped down UCLA, 28-20, as Billy Wells scored a come-from-behind touchdown and an insurance one, the second on a 62-yard punt return, before 100,000 fans in the Rose Bowl game at Pasadena, Calif.

Sooner Toppie Maryland, 7-0. The Oklahoma Sooners either proved or disproved—according to the viewpoint—that they rated as the nation's number one team when they topped Maryland, 7-0, on a quick touchdown run by Larry Grigg in the second period. . . . Maryland, handicapped because its key quarterback Bernie Faloney was available only for five plays, didn't have the depth that had been their forte season long.

At New Orleans in the Sugar Bowl, the Georgia Tech Engineers rolled over the West Virginia Mountaineers, 42-19, in a free-scoring game dominated by Tech quarterback Pepper Rodgers, who tossed 2 touchdowns passes, kicked 4 extra points and a 9-yard field goal.

In the Gator Bowl game Bobby Cavazos of Texas Tech whipped to three touchdowns in an easy 35-13 victory over Auburn.

Two Tie Games
At Tampa, Fla., in the Cigar Bowl, the Missouri Valley Vikings of Marshall, Mo., played a 12-12 stalemate with LaCrosse, Wis., State, while in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex., it was 37-14 for little Texas Western over Mississippi Southern in an upset.

The Cal-studded lineup of the Fort Ord, Calif., Army team was too much for Great Lakes Navy Training Station in the Navy Bowl at Phoenix, Ariz., as the soldiers prevailed by a 27-12 count.

In the annual Prairie View struggle in Texas the Prairie View A & M eleven topped Texas Southern, 33-8.

In a night bowl game, the nation's longest winning streak of 29 games was ended even though East Texas State of Commerce, Tex., did not lose. The Texans struggled to a 7-7 tie with underdog Arkansas State in the Tangerine Bowl game at Orlando, Fla., but that blemished the slate which had been kept clean through the winning sequence.

Eldorado, Anna Play Tonight in Tourney Finals

Eldorado and Anna will meet tonight for the championship of the four-team cage tourney being staged at Cairo. The title battle is scheduled to get underway about 8:30. The consolation game, starting at 7, will feature Metropolis and Cairo.

In last night's opening round of play Eldorado edged past Metropolis, 58-55, and Anna rallied in the last half to take a 75-71 decision from Cairo in overtime.

This is a repeat of the 1953 meet, first year for the four-team blind-draw tourney, which was held at Anna. In that meet Eldorado won over Metropolis, 55-45, in the opening game and Anna defeated Cairo, 66-39. Anna went on to take the trophy and Metropolis won the consolation game.

Eldorado got away to a slow start last night against Metropolis and Eagle followers had some anxious minutes during the opening quarter.

The Adams-coached crew began to get squared away as the game progressed and had a five point lead at half time. The Saline county boys held the advantage throughout the remainder of the game, but in the last quarter, with two Eagle regulars out of the game via the foul route, Metropolis almost nullified even.

Anna Wins in Overtime
Metropolis was just out of tourney play—having taken runnerup honors in the Bridgeport invitational. In the championship fray Wednesday Metropolis dropped a 55-52 overtime decision to Grayville. Eldorado had been idle since winning at Ridgway Dec. 22.

Cairo and Anna went into overtime before a winner was decided. At the end of regulation play the score was knotted 69-all. Cairo jumped away fast and held a 41-29 advantage at halftime, but this was whittled to a mere two-point lead, 53-51, at the end of three quarters of play. Then it was 69-69 and Anna led 75-71 after the three-minute overtime period to go into the championship game.

Senate Demos Plan Drive to Curb McCarthy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Key Senate Democrats were quietly making plans today for a drive to curb the powers of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) as chairman of the Senate Investigating subcommittee. The campaign, still in the discussion stage, is known to have strong support. It was understood to have been endorsed by Democrats whose views on other matters do not always coincide.

The controversial Wisconsin Republican would—if the plan is successful—receive what amounts to a rebuke by a vote of the Senate itself.

Under the plan Democrats would ask the Senate to vote curbs on McCarthy's powers over the subcommittee staff.

The proposal would be offered early in the session which starts Jan. 6 when the Senate is asked to vote funds to finance the subcommittee.

The Democratic Policy committee will have to approve the plan if it is to be a party issue. Supporters of the move concede some Democrats would not support it, but they would expect to pick up a few Republican votes and the support of Oregon's independent, Sen. Wayne Morse.

The move would clear the way for return of Democratic subcommittee members who resigned last July in a dispute over McCarthy's staff hiring powers.

I DON'T NEED TO GO TO CHURCH-

Yes, I'm one of those seventy-five million Americans who are not members of a church. Saturday and Sunday are the two days of the week I like to devote entirely to relaxation and recreation. Why should I spend an hour or so in church? I try to live straight—to put in a full day's work for my boss, to get along with my neighbor, to bring up my children in the proper way. As long as I'm trying to live respectably, why do I need to go to church? There is an answer, my friend. Since the beginning of history, you and millions like you have been trying to run your lives and this world of ours by your own knowledge and strength. You've said you didn't need help. But human experience declares that you have failed. The past has left us an ugly picture of cruelty and bloodshed, of hate and crime. The present finds us on the edge of fresh disaster—of devastating war on the outside and moral decay within. This is the tragedy of man's proud attempt to live without God. You need help—help beyond the pale of man's proud attempt to live without God. You need a man to live in the Church—in fellowship and communion with Christ. He is the only one who can find this love only in the Church—in fellowship and communion with Christ. He is the only one who can find this love only in the Church—in fellowship and communion with Christ. He is the only one who can find this love only in the Church—in fellowship and communion with Christ.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

WEEKLY BIBLE COMMENT

The Gospel of John

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.
During the early part of 1954 many Sunday schools will be studying the Gospel of John. A word or two concerning that Gospel may be of help.

I had the advantage of a brilliant exposition and analysis of the Gospel by the late Wilbur W. White at some student conference many years ago. The memory and effect of which have been with me ever since.

The Gospel of John begins not with a record of events, as in the other three Gospels, but with a prologue, or thesis. In this prologue the author sets forth his belief in Jesus as the Eternal Word, the Word which was in the beginning, was with God and was God (John 1:1). It is a plain statement of the divinity of Christ.

Dr. White represented all that follows in the Gospel as the evidences of what the author had set out to prove: the witness of Jesus' mighty works, the witness of early disciples, the witness of the Samaritan woman, the witness of various incidents, the witness of Jesus Himself, and the crowning witness of the Resurrection.

Despite its nature and its witness, the Gospel of John has been the subject of keen controversy. From the apparent late date of its appearance, and doubt concerning whether its author was the Apostle John, some have questioned its authenticity. Others have seen in the fourth Gospel the addition, the crowning and the climax of all that had gone before in the Gospels of Matthew, Mark and Luke.

For me, the Gospel of John bears its own evidence concerning its authenticity. Its incidents in their plain narration bear the mark of truth.

Could anyone have invented them and the discourses of Jesus, which surely have the mark of remembrance?

The three so-called Synoptic Gospels are rich and full, but even with their richness think of all we should miss if we did not have this fourth Gospel!

There is the story of Nicodemus, the long account of the meeting of Jesus and the Woman of Samaria, with its great words concerning worship; the association of truth and freedom in John 8, the ringing testimony of the man born blind (John 9), the picture of the Good Shepherd, the mystic words about union with Christ, the branch and the vine.

Besides being a source of great conversations and incidents the Gospel of John is a source of great texts, such as John 3:16, the concentrated expression of the Gospel of God's love for the world; the nature of true worship (John 4:23, 24); "the truth shall make you free" (John 8:32); and the comforting words concerning immortality in John 14.

And the Gospel ends on its sense of the immensity of the Christ and all that pertains to His life. The books that might have been written are only a part of the ongoing life of the Master as He lives and acts in the lives of the multitude of disciples who love and follow Him. These, too, are continuing witnesses.
